From Saturday, APRIL 17, to Saturday, APRIL 24, 1736.

Extract of a Letter from New-Providence, dated March 27. 1736.

ON the 17th of this Inſtant, a little after 8 o'Clock at Night, ſeveral Soldiers of this Garriſon (who, it ſeems, for ſome time before, had been combining to riſe and take the Fort in order to facilitate their intended Deſertion) knocked down the Corporal and ſeveral of their Brother-Soldiers who they imagined would not be of their Party, ſeized the Fort-Gate, ſurpriz'd the Sentries at their ſeveral Poſts and took poſſeſſion of the whole Garriſon. Mr. Fitzwilliam, our Governor, who then was in his own Houſe drinking a Glaſs of Wine with two or three Gentlemen, being informed of this Mutiny by one of the Sentries who made his Eſcape over the Fort-Wall, immediately ſnatch'd up a Sword and ordered the Centinels that guard his Houſe in the Night, to follow him and ran down to the Fort, imagining that if he could, by any Means, get in with three or four People, his preſence would, with the Loſs of one or two, form a party ſtrong enough to overpower the Mutineers: But he no ſooner approached the Fort Gate and called out to one of the Serjants, who was juſt before him, to endeavour to ſecure it, than half a dozen Muskets were fired at him; whereupon he ordered thoſe Soldiers, whom he brought with him, to return the Fire; which one of them had no ſooner done than a Volley was fired from the two Baſtions between which the Governor and thoſe few People with him were, whereby the Serjeant afore mentioned, that was juſt before him, was ſhot thro' his Arm, and many places thro' his Cloaths, and the Centinel, that was almoſt cloſe up at his left Hand, received a mortal Wound whereof he ſoon died, and thoſe Gentlemen that followed the Governor from his Houſe, being but a little way from him, were much endanger'd; for by this time the firing from all Parts of the Garriſon became general, occaſioned, as is believ'd, by the Governor's being overheard by the Mutineers ordering People to run to ſome new buildings in Town to bring Ladders, in order to endeavour to get over the Fort-Walls This firſt Buſtle being over and the Mutineers having ſecur'd all the Arms and Ammunition in the Fort, they began to fire the great Guns at two or three Veſſels in the Harbour, with deſign to oblige them to come down near the Fort, and alſo at the Governor's Houſe In the mean time he was getting as many of the Inhabitants as he could together, in order to inveſt the Fort; but finding that he cou'd not ſuddenly get a ſufficient Number of them to perform that Service, he had recourſe to a Stratagem whereby we happily overcame this terrible Mutiny, and prevented the great Effuſion of Blood, it was apprehended, it would occaſion; as follows: The Governor having detached Mr. Stewart, his Surgeon, with a few Men to reinforce and command a ſmall Number of the People of the Country, that were gone to defend the Magazine, went about a Mile to the Eaſtward of the Town, where Capt. Charles Walker, of this Iſland, had prudently removed a Scooner, belonging to himſelf, out of Sight of the Fort, and on board this Veſſel the Governor put ſome Powder and Ball he cauſed to be brought from the Magazine and ordered about five and thirty choſen Men, of the Iſland, to be under the Command of Capt. Walker and Mr. Samuel Lawford, with directions to be ready to get under Sail at a Moment's warning; for by this Time the Governor had notice that about eighteen of the Mutineers had taken Poſſeſſion of a ſmall Sloop in the Harbour, and that a Party of them had broke open the Common Goal and taken out a French Seaman to be their Pilot, who had been committed, a Week before, for Felony and endeavouring to carry off ſome Soldiers; and that they purpoſed further to get him, the Governor, into their Poſſeſſion, if poſſible: But finding themſelves diſappointed in this laſt part of their Scheme and having been repulſed at the Magazine, which they went to blow up, they, to the Number of Two and Forty, broke open the Proviſion Stores and a Place where there was ſome new Cloathing, and (having equip'd themſelves and the Sloop and nail'd up ſome of the Guns that pointed to the Harbour's Mouth) went on board and ſet ſail about three o'Clock the next Morning: And the very ſame Inſtant Capt Walker weighed, purſued and kept Sight of them all Night without being obſerved by them 'till Day Light, which was ſuch a ſurprize upon, and bred ſuch a Confuſion among them, that they were ſoon taken without any damage or loſs, on either Side, ſave only that the Sloop's Rigging was a little hurt by Capt Walker's Swivel Guns, and one Soldier ſhot thro' the Ear, which, with one Man that was ſhot thro' the Shoulder, in the Attempt upon the Magazine, was all the Blood that was ſhed on their Side 'til the next Day after, when every Man of them was convicted and ſentenced to Death, of whom twelve of the moſt notorious and their French Pilot were forthwith executed, the latter at the Maſt-head of his own Veſſel. Theſe poor Wretches being aſk'd, a little before their Execution, how they could be ſo wicked as to purpoſe the Death of the Governor, Mr. Stewart and ſome others, declared, upon their Death, they intended to ſpill no Blood more than what might happen in their own Defence, and that their View in attempting to take the Governor was only to ſecure him and thereby their own Retreat, and Mr. Stewart, as being a Perſon always active in executing the Governor's Commands, on Emergencies of this Kind; their whole Deſign being no other than to get from a Place where the King's Pay is ſcarce ſufficient to ſupport human Nature, there being no additional Allowance for them here as in Jamaica and other Places; which, tho' a very great grievance, cannot be redreſs'd here: And the Governor, in order to convince them and the whole Country that he was neither inſenſible of, nor unmoved at their wants, Ordered the Extracts of ſeveral of his Letters to the Secretary of War, Lords of Trade &c. to be publickly read, whereby it plainly appear'd he conſulted the Welfare of this Company more than his own private Intereſt; and it is manifeſt to us all here, and the poor Soldiers themſelves confeſs they never have been taken ſo good Care of, both in Sickneſs and in Health, as ſince his Government: And it is moſt certain that this Mutiny, which would have endanger'd the Subverſion of the Government were

were it not for the Governor's prudent Conduct, had never come to the great Head it did, had his Commiſſion Officers, two of which have been abſent ever ſince he has been in the Government, been here to have attended their Duty; for when this Accident happen'd, Mr. Howel, the only Lieutenant upon the Iſland, happen'd to be in a very violent Fit of the Gout, and was oblig'd to be carried out of his Houſe, in that dangerous Condition, upon information that the Mutineers talked of beating it down about his Ears.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS.

Extract of a Letter from Madrid, dated December 27. N. S.

The King has, ſince the Arrival of the Count de Montijo, held ſeveral Councils of State, whereat that Miniſter has aſſiſted. It was therein deliberated, whether it was expedient his Majeſty ſhould accept the Diſpoſitions made by the Courts of Vienna and Verſailles in the Preliminary Articles, with regard to Italy; and in what Manner that Acceptation could take Place. It was judged, the King, in order to give a new Proof of his Diſpoſition to a Peace, might come into thoſe Diſpoſitions, if the Maritime Powers would ſolemnly guaranty to the King of the two Sicilies, the peaceable Poſſeſſion of thoſe two Kingdoms, towards and againſt all. The King has ordered his Miniſter, reſiding at the Courts of thoſe two Powers, to propoſe to them the Guaranty in queſtion, and their Anſwer is expected with great Impatience: As ſoon as his Majeſty is apprized thereof, he will declare his final Reſolution upon the Peace, and ſend his Orders agreeable thereto to Italy. By the laſt Orders ſent to the Duke de Montemar, the King let that General know; That he is to hold the Army he commands in Readineſs to act, if any Emergency ſhould require it; and that if the Term of the Ceſſation of Arms ſhould expire, before new Inſtructions come to his Hands, he may in that Caſe make his Diſpoſitions for acting defenſively in Tuſcany, if he ſhould be attacked, &c. There is all the Reaſon to hope, Things will not come to that Extremity. The Count de Montijo, in all the Audiences he had of their Majeſties, and his Converſations with Don Joſeph Patinho, has made a Report of the Aſſurances he had received at Verſailles, that the moſt Chriſtian King, would effectually imploy himſelf, in minding the Honour and Intereſts of the Crown of Spain, in the Accommodation of the Affairs of Italy, and to ſecure unto her the quiet Poſſeſſion of the States ſhe is to preſerve there. Our Miniſters confer frequently with the Foreign Miniſters, and eſpecially with M. Keene, Miniſter of Great-Britain, with whom the Count de Montijo had, on the 12th Inſtant, a long Conference; and, it is ſaid, will ſet out in a Fortnight or three Weeks for London, to reſume his Functions of the King's Ambaſſador at that Court.

Vienna, Jan. 4 N. S. The Emperor has been ſo well pleaſed with the Contents of the Diſpatches brought by the laſt Courier from France, that his Imperial Majeſty made him a Preſent of a golden Chain. The Duke of Lorain is ſet out for Presbourg. During that Prince's Abſence, the Baron de Jacquemin, his Miniſter at this Court, will demand in Form, of their Imperial Majeſties, the Moſt Serene Archdutcheſs MARY THERESIA, in Marriage for his Royal Highneſs; after which Formality, the ſame will be publiſhed at Court with the uſual Ceremonies. The Duke of Lorain, is to reſign his Vice-Royalty of Hungary, in the Preſence of all the Grandees, and the Nobility of that Kingdom, that will meet for that Purpoſe at Presbourg; and when that Prince departs from thence, they will accompany him as far as the Frontiers of Auſtria: He will there find the Emperor a Hunting, and accompany his Imperial Majeſty hither. It is aſſured Prince Charles of Lorain will alſo repair to Presbourg, during the Duke his Brother's Sojourn there, in order to be propoſed to the Hungarian States by the Emperor and that Prince, for the Dignity of Vice-Roy of that Kingdom. The 12th of next Month is fixed for his Royal Highneſs's Marriage, at Fitzing, a League from this City, where that Auguſt Couple will receive the Nuptial Bleſſing; and the Nuptials will be celebrated at the Imperial Palace of the Favorita, with the ſame Ceremonies, and the like Magnificence, as thoſe of King Auguſtus III with the Joſephine Archdutcheſs. The Time being but ſhort, the Embroiderers, Taylors, and other Workmen, have obtained Leave from our Archbiſhop, to work Holy Days and Sundays, upon the Cloaths and other Preparations for the Nuptials. The Duke of Lorain's Livery will be one of the moſt Superb ever ſeen: His Pages will have Coats of Crimſon Velvet, and the Seams trimmed with Gold Lace, and Waſtcoats of gold Brocade.

BOSTON, March 1.

Capt. Wootton from Curacoa brings Advice, That while he lay there the Spaniſh Guarda de Coſta being troubleſome on the Coaſt, the Government equipt out Capt. Darby to go in queſt of 'em, who coming up to two Sloops engag'd 'em and after a ſmart diſpute took one, and in all probability might have taken the other had his Crew been moſtly Engliſhmen inſtead of Frenchmen that were tired with Fighting. The Prize he carried into Curracoa, and Capt. Darby immediately was ordered to refit to go in purſuit of the other Sloop again.

We have Advice by a Letter from the Bay of Honduras, via Rhode-Iſland, That a Sloop belonging to Jamaica, has lately taken a Spaniſh Sloop, and kill'd 8 Spaniards in the Engagement, and took a Spaniard in her that had been nine Years a noted Pilot among them, whoſe Head they took from his Shoulders, and ſent the ſame as a Preſent to Jamaica. The ſame Letter informs, That Capt. Woodbury had been taken by the Spaniards, but after he had been ſome time with them, he roſe upon them and kill'd ſeveral: but his Veſſel is ſince caſt away.
